

ABSTRACT

A piercing hygiene system to cleanse and/or treat body piercings. The hygiene system comprises a curved blunt insert attached to spongy elongated material that can be used to clean and treat body piercings. The spongy material is saturated with an antimicrobial, a topical anesthetic, a flavored saline gel, or an essential oil such as rosemary, lemongrass, tea tree oil, rosewood oil, or thyme oil. Additionally, the blunt insert is curved so the insert may penetrate piercings that are flat against the body, such as eyebrows, or are difficult to access, such as belly button piercings, or are through thick tissue, such as tongue piercings.
